MUCH CONCERN FELT.

Ordinary Methods For Treating Catarrh Prove Unsuccessful.

Recent statistics showing an increase in catarrh have shaken the confidence of medical men in the usual prescriptions to safeguard human health from the ravages of the disease.

When stomach dosing proved ineffective, it was natural to look for some other treatment, and it is believed that Hymenol, an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles has at last been found. Breathed through a nasal pocket inhaler, its healing medication reaches every spot where there are catarrhal germs destroy them, prevents their future growth and soothes the irritated mucous membrane so that relief is felt almost instantly, while lasting cure is permanently secured.

The complete Hymenol outfit costs but $1.00, and is sold by the Red Cross pharmacy under an absolute agreement to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. It is the only cure for catarrh that has ever been sold under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it cures, but Hymenol & Wells have so much faith in its power to cure all catarrhal troubles that they are willing to take the risk, so if Hymenol does not help you, there will not be a penny's expense. Get an outfit at once on this liberal plan.

GOING TO ST. ALBANS.

Arthur J. Smith Will Have Charge of Gas Plant There.

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 30.—After filling a position in the local gas company for fifteen years, Arthur J. Smith will leave on Nov. 1 for St. Albans, Vt., where he will be placed in charge of the St. Albans Gas company as superintendent and treasurer of the plant there.

The plant is controlled and operated by the United Gas Improvement company of Philadelphia which also operates and controls the People's Gas company of Manchester.

Mr. Smith's connection in Manchester ably fits him for his new position as head of the Vermont city enterprise, and in the fifteen years of service here, he has served successfully in the manufacturing, commercial and distribution departments, the last four years being at the gas works at South Manchester.

While the St. Albans plant is not as large as the Manchester company, it is growing constantly in the last fifteen years, when it was taken in hand by the Philadelphia company, and today it is among the most up to date of gas companies in New England.

Two Persons Were Hurt.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 30.—Two persons were injured in a rear-end collision of trolley cars on the Boston & Northern road between here and Salem last night, the accident being caused by slippery rails.

A Salem bound car ran into a floating bridge car on Western avenue near Eastern avenue, Motorman Spiney of the Salem bound car being unable to slow up his car owing to leaves and mud on the tracks.

Michael Deschamps of Lynn who was riding on the front of the Salem car was thrown and bruised, while Mrs.
Charles Chapman of Eastern avenue, Lynn, who was riding in the floating bridge car, was cut over the eye with a piece of glass from a broken window.
All the passengers were more or less shaken up by the impact.

died Sunday morning after a short illness.

bury, which has been closed for over a year, was opened to the public again last Thursday evening.

William Barton Shaw, of Pittsford Mills, completed his ninety-third year October 26. Mr. Shaw is now the oldest man in town and Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. Cyrus Dike are the only persons who are more aged.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carder, Sr., former residents of Rutland, celebrated ter, Mrs. W. E. Arnold, in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Carder have eight chilcan Journal of Clinical Medicine. The article is on the cause and treatment of perience.

Edward P. Allen, aged 63 years, a native of Vermont but for over a quarter of a century a member of The Boston Herald staff, filling the position of assistant foreman of the composing room during the greater portion of that period, died in Boston Saturday afternoon. Mr. Allen is survived by his wife, three brothers and a sister.

The accidental discharge of a heavy rifle in a double tenement house in West Rutland smashed the dishes on the table between Mrs. William O'Rourke and her son after the bullet had plowed through the partition dividing the tenements. John Hartly had just laid the rifle on the table in his part of the house and it is supposed that it was cocked.

Uriah Welch, of New York, who died at Rutland, was a native of Proctor'sville, and at one time one of the foremost hotel men in the country, having owned the St. Nicholas, New York city, the New American hotel at Richfield furnished the Leonis in Boston.

church, Burlington, will be observed Monday, November 25. Special services will be held on the preceding Sunday and an anniversary service will be observed the morning of the 25th, the day upon which the consecration anniversary falls. A parish gathering will be held in the evening under the auspices of the Men's club.

Brattleboro Man's Mysterious Absence

The associates of W. H. Bryant, manager of the Twin State Gas & Electric Co., believe that the prolonged absence of Mr. Bryant is due to reasons more serious than were at first hinted. Mr.
Bryant left Brattleboro about two weeks ago on the early morning train, telling his family that he was going to New York. Since then the only message from him has been a telegram to his wife that he was in New York.

It was thought at first that the man would return in a few days, and no alarm was felt, but in view of his continued absence and the fact that he has a highly nervous temperament, it is feared that he may be suffering from some temporary derangement. Added weight is given this theory by the fact that within a few years he went through a trying illness of about a year's duration.

An effort has been made by both the Brattleboro branch and the National Light, Heat & Power Co., of New York, which controls the Brattleboro office to get some trace of the missing man, but without avail. W. C. Pratt, of New York, vice-president of the National company, is now at the Brattleboro office, and it is said that an examination of the accounts of the office showed that they were entirely correct.

IN HONOR OF CHAMPLAIN.

Discussion of Plans For Celebration Two Years Hence.

An enthusiastic public meeting was held Tuesday evening at Burlington in accordance with a vote taken at the last meeting of the Burlington Conservative club, to invite the citizens of Burlington to meet the sub-committee of the Lake Champlain Tercentenary Commission, to discuss the plans for the celebration of the discovery of the lake.

A Vermont commission composed of Governor F. D. Proctor, Mr. J. McCuen of Vergennes, Horace W. Bailey of Newbury and the members of the sub-commission above mentioned has been appointed to confer with a New York commission, to form plans for a great celebration in the discovery of the lake.

It is hoped that the interest in this celebration world-wide, and especially to interest the Canadian government, and possibly France, in the undertaking; further, to make the celebration a great educational, oratorical, memorial and spectacular success, drawing thousands of people to witness the beauties of the lake and its surroundings; a celebration including great conventions of religious and patriotic bodies, grand pageants, famous speakers and wonderful displays; in short, the greatest and grandest celebration that Vermont has ever known. This is the plan that the united Vermont and New York commissions have laid out, and which was placed before the Burlington citizens Tuesday evening, in order that an early interest shall be awakened in the celebration, and that Burlington may have a conspicuous part in the affair.

THE PREY OF A GRIZZLY.

By a Little Oversight Bruin Was Robbed of a Good Meal.

In the early settlement of California grizzly bears were numerous and troublesome, but few men ever had a more singular experience with a grizzly than Paul Sweet, who kept a livery near Santa Cruz.

The story is told by Mrs.
Jail in "My First Holiday."

Mr. Sweet was one day walking alone in the woods when he came suddenly upon a grizzly bear and her two cubs. He was quite unarmed, and before he had time to consider any plan of action the bear was upon him. She struck him down, but he kept his presence of mind and lay perfectly quiet.

The grizzly stood over him for a minute or more, then seized him by the waistband and began dragging him along. He did not resist, and she dragged him for a dozen rods to a little sandy hollow, where she dropped him and began digging a hole in the sand.
Into this hole she rooted the man, and then moved and paved the sand over him until he was buried from sight.

The prudent animal, not being hungry at the moment, was making a cache of her prey.

Mr. Sweet's heart lightened as he realized the brute's intentions, and he began to hope that he might escape.
He waited a few minutes after the bear had covered him in, and then, thinking that she had retired from the scene, he began to work himself free very cautiously. The grizzly was on the watch, however, and at the first movement of her prey rushed to the spot and with two or three strokes of her paw swept tacked him in again.

Mr. Sweet instantly became motionless again and allowed himself to be reburied in the sand. Luckily his hat had slipped over his face, so that the sand did not fill his nose and eyes, and by raising his head a little he was able to throw off the sand sufficiently to breathe.

He was more wary next time and lay still for an hour or two until he felt pretty sure that the grizzly had retired from the spot. Very cautiously then he worked himself free from the sand and crept away.

Hard to Shave.

The hardest beards, or faces, to shave are those of the stonecutters.
The fine particles of granite or marble become ingrained into the skin, and "once over" such a face means half an hour on the house for the best razor.
Coal heaters come next, but coal dust is not so deadly to an edge as granite powder.

Out of Sight.

"Out of sight, out of mind" is an old saying which applies with peculiar force to a sore, but it would not be in-treated with Buckle's Arnica Salve. It out of sight, out of mind and out of existence. Piles, too, and chilblains disappear under its healing influence. Guaranteed by the Red Cross Pharmacy, 250
